Dear Community Official,

Thank you for your support of America's PrepareAthon!

There were more than 17 million participants who engaged in preparedness activities and events across the country. It is because of the many communities, municipalities and private sector groups that participated in this campaign that it was so successful.

We also want to thank everyone in New Jersey for the events and activities, municipal proclamations and resolutions and the special efforts of our first responders for doing such a great job.

The next National PrepareAthon! Day is set for April 30, 2015. We at FEMA look forward to continuing to work with your community on future preparedness efforts as we move into the spring.

Thank you for your continued commitment to increasing community resilience and preparedness.

Regards,

Richard Stokes
