Keynote Luncheon

Chris Leinberger, a nationally renowned land use strategist, teacher, developer, researcher and author will deliver the luncheon keynote. The convergence of the two largest generations in American history, baby boomers and Millennials, is creating a profound structural shift in demographics and real estate. Both are driving market demand for walkable urban centers in core cities and inner-ring suburbs. Mr. Leinberger will present a compelling case for what New Jersey must do to take advantage of this shift, while growing the economy and creating jobs.
