seminars and workshops for city leaders to understand the impact that activity in Washington, D.C. has on local government. Meet with federal agencies and congressional decision makers to learn about resources available to your city and to make your voice heard on the tough decisions.

Conference Workshops

Workshops will cover topics such as local innovation, job creation and training, transportation and infrastructure, civic engagement, housing, public safety and meeting the needs of families and will center around NLC's call for Congress and the President to take action to create jobs, grow the economy and invest in the nation's infrastructure. Visit the website for full details on all the workshops.
