Survey: Climate Adaptation on the Local Level

The National League of Cities, in collaboration with the Urban Sustainability Directors Network, ICLEI-Local Governments for Sustainability, and researchers with the Kresge Foundation, are collaborating on a survey to assess the current state of the local climate adaptation/preparedness field. The survey seeks to understand where local governments are in their efforts to build more resilient communities, what resources they are using, what resources they would like, and what barriers they face to enhancing the resilience of their local communities. The National League of Cities and our collaborators will use results from the survey to ensure we are providing the more relevant, timely, and usable resources to help you advance municipal climate efforts.

This survey is designed for representatives of local government, including staff and elected officials. Given the important role you play in your local community, we sincerely hope you will take approximately 25 minutes to complete the survey. The survey will close on May 2nd, 2014.

Take the survey: https://umich.qualtrics.com/SE/?SID=SV_8JiQid98I09JTc9

For your time, your name will be entered into a drawing to win free registration and 3 nights hotel accommodations to support your attendance at the 2015 National Adaptation Forum in St. Louis, MO or the 2015 Resilient Cities Congress in Bonn, Germany. Three winners will be selected.

If you have any questions about the survey please feel free to contact Raksha Vasudevan. Thank you in advance for taking this important survey.
