Subject: 2013 Reclaiming Vacant Properties Conference - Scholarships Available!

Community Progress is pleased to announce the availability of scholarships for our upcoming Reclaiming Vacant Properties conference!

The success of the conference depends on many factors, but the participants are one of the most important. As our President, Tamar Shapiro, noted last month, we all rely on each other to "build [a] movement of community leaders, activists and officials committed to restoring the strength of our neighborhoods through innovative reuse of vacant properties." Making sure there are a variety of people to learn from is as critical as the program we develop.

We know that travel and other expenses can make attending difficult. But thanks to the Ford Foundation, we are proud to announce that we are offering a limited number of scholarships. In order to help ensure that the communities represented at the Conference reflect the diversity of communities that Community Progress seeks to learn from and serve, the scholarship program provides assistance to applicants with financial need who strive to improve the quality of life in economically disadvantaged communities and whose commitment to issues surrounding vacant property reclamation will be reinforced by their participation in the conference.

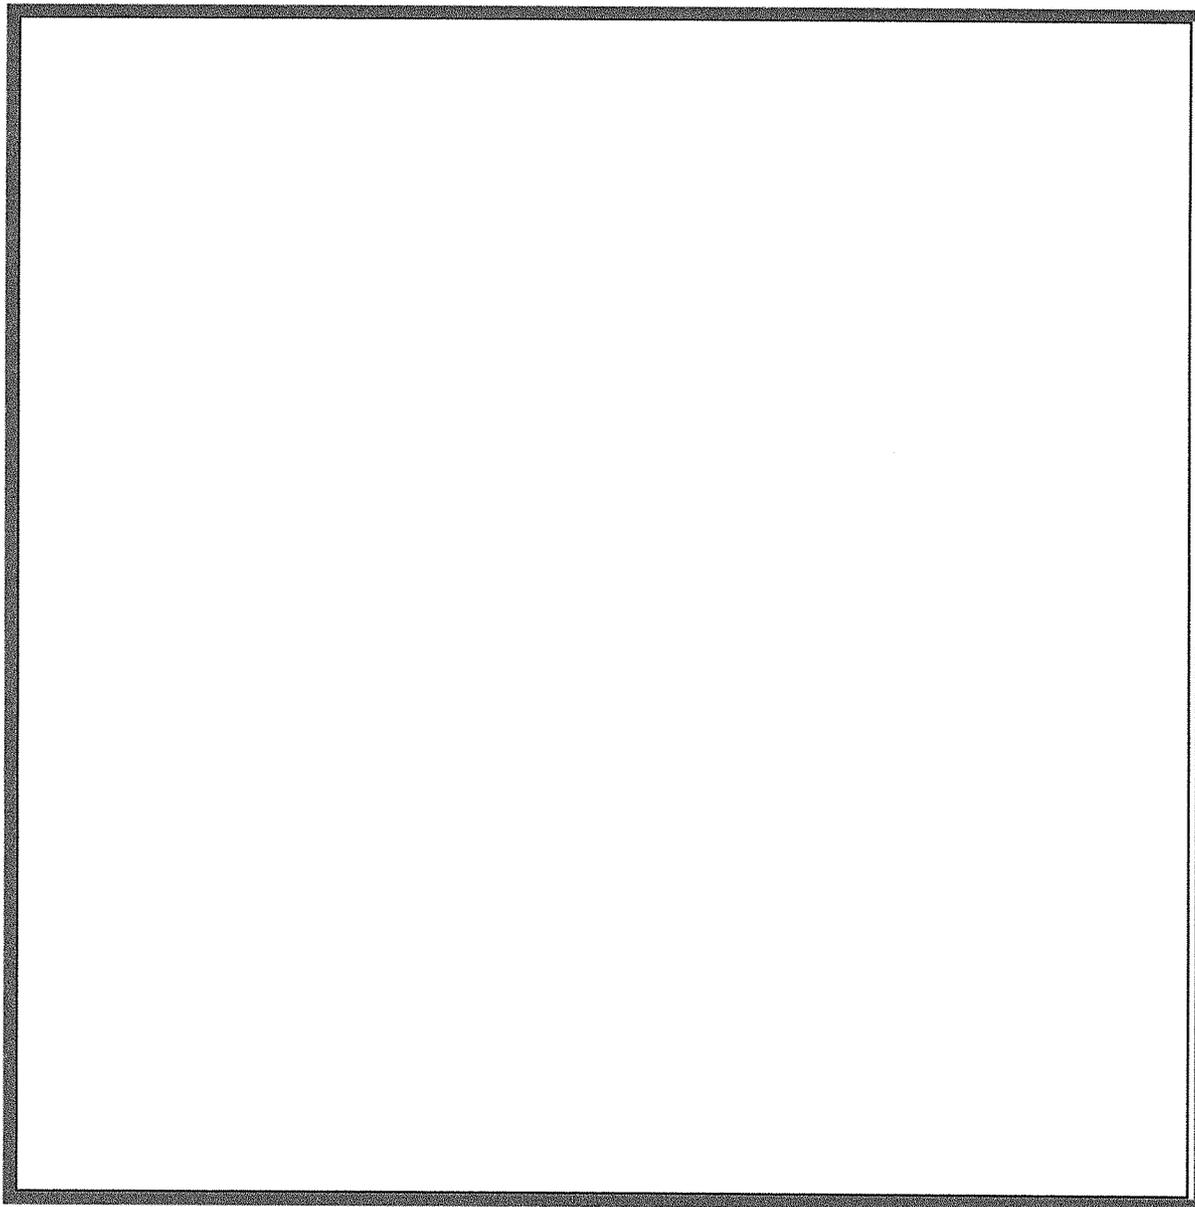

Learn more about the Scholarship Program and fill out an online application. Courtney Knox can be reached at cknox@communityprogress.net to answer any questions.

IMPORTANT DATES:

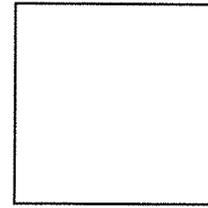

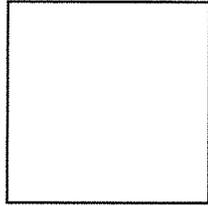

- July 2 Application deadline
- July 15 Scholarships awarded
- July 31 Registration deadline for scholarship recipients

Registration is now open! Early Bird rates end July 31st.
