Are you prepared to take on what lies ahead for your city?

Take a step outside your routine in city hall to engage with local leaders and experts at the Congress of Cities in Austin this November, and explore not only current solutions and best practices, but also "The Future of Cities" over this four-day event.

Keynote speaker announced:

You'll be stimulated to think in new ways about the world and your local challenges right from the start as Futurist Mike Walsh speaks at the opening general session. Walsh is a global authority on 21st century business, author of Futuretainment, and CEO of Tomorrow, an innovation research lab. Constantly traveling the world seeking new ideas, patterns, and trends, he will share his insights with you to help you better understand and influence the future of cities, particularly over the next five years.

Ready to be inspired? Register by July 18th for the best rates.
