Subject: You have 9 days to make sure Congress hears from you

Don't let Congress forget about your city

Things are heating up in Congress! As they begin tackling the big issues (think: tax reform and transportation) this spring, make sure your voice is heard.

Register for The Congressional City Conference by January 30th, and we'll give you an easy and free way to advocate for your city. Your conference registration will include a painless form where you'll simply tell us when you can meet with your legislator's office—we'll do the scheduling for you. We'll even provide you with materials and training to prepare you for your visit.

Sound easy? It is—but you'll only have this chance until January 30th. After the 30th, conference rates go up, and our scheduling service will expire. Register now, and make sure Congress remembers local government in 2015!
