NEW JERSEY 2016 RECYCLING POETRY CONTEST

Welcome to New Jersey's 2016 Recycling Poetry Contest! We are looking for young writers in grades 4 through 6 to contribute poems focusing on their thoughts about recycling in our state. The winning poets will be invited to participate in an awards ceremony later this year. Entries must be postmarked no later than June 3, 2016.

Recycling is the law in New Jersey, and while the program enjoys a certain amount of popularity, the recycling rate has remained virtually stationary over the last several years. Additionally, we often hear from residents and students who tell us that many of New Jersey's schools aren't recycling. Therefore, in order to promote recycling in our schools, we think it is important to encourage as many students as possible to participate in this contest.

This year's recycling poetry contest is open to all New Jersey students, grades four through six. Schools must select no more than three (3) poems from each eligible grade level to submit to the NJ Department of Environmental Protection, Bureau of Energy and Sustainability, for entry into the statewide contest. A review committee will then select the 12 winning poems.

Students are asked to submit a poem of 100 words or less explaining why they believe recycling is important, why all students and schools should participate in their local recycling programs, and how best to improve New Jersey's recycling rate. In reviewing the entries, the judges will look for understanding of theme, originality, ability to convey a concept, and creative thinking and writing. Winners at the state level will be invited to participate in an awards ceremony later this year, and will receive prizes made of recycled material.

The NJDEP Bureau of Energy and Sustainability is sponsoring this contest as part of its ongoing public awareness and education effort. If you have any questions concerning this program, please contact Vicki Kerekes, Contest Coordinator, at 609-984-6906 or by e-mail at victoria.kerekes@dep.nj.gov.

We look forward to receiving entries from your students!
