This week's episode of Discover DEP is now live on the DEP website. It focuses on National Drive Electric Week. Across the country, local drivers and advocates of electric vehicles hold events to increase awareness of electric vehicles and inform consumers about their numerous benefits. Ryan Gergely from DEP's Bureau of Energy and Sustainability sits down with Bob Bostock to discuss this nationwide initiative and New Jersey's involvement.

This episode can be found at <http://nj.gov/dep/podcast/>.
